SACRAMENTO RIVER WATER NOT FOR CITY OF RICHMOND

People Don't Want It and Emphatically Said So

The advocates and boosters, hired and otherwise, were out early Tuesday morning with automobiles decorated with streamers instructing residents to vote "yes," but the "nos" in the final count were two to one against the proposition.

This is the second defeat for the water bonds within sixty days and the taxpayers have had about enough on the water question at present.

When asked what move the water commission would next make, the answer was that the matter was undecided. Probably the move will be made by the citizens, and the water commission dispensed with as an expensive and unnecessary adjunct to the city government. About $35,000 has been expended by the city of Richmond in experimenting with its water commission. It is said if a detailed statement of expenditures were published it would cause some surprise to taxpayers, who are not acquainted with "intricacies" of politics and the "frittering away" of public money.

However, the "agony" is over in regard to Sacramento river swamp water supply for Richmond, unless the water commission and the engineers trump up an excuse for another bond election.

"On account of the war in Europe," etc.

The following is the result of the walloping the water bonds received Tuesday:

Iowan Calls on Terminal

S. S. Fender of Hamburg, Iowa, called at The Terminal office last week and invested a few dollars in a subscription. He owns some good property in Richmond, and says he expects to realize a handsome profit on same, as it is close to the waterfront, where the naval base will be. Mr. Fender is a successful farmer in the best country in the middle west. Southwestern Iowa, where the city of Hamburg is located, is noted for the great quantity of fine apples, one of the largest apple orchards in the United States being in this productive section.

HIGHWAY WORK ACTIVE.

Work on the first unit of the state highway is progressing rapidly between San Pablo and Pinole. The contractor has torn up the old roadway from Pinole to a point near the Standard oil tank farm.

Dr. Walter Bullock's residence was burglarized one evening last week, and some clothing taken by the intruders. Doc says the burglars must have made some mistake in the number as he keeps all his money in circulation.

Death of Well Known Athlete

New York.—James E. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union and American Olympic commissioner in recent Olympic games, was operated on at a local hospital for intestinal trouble and never rallied. He returned from the A. A. U. track and field championship games held in Baltimore on Sunday and was stricken late that night with the illness which resulted in his death.

Sav Prisoners Are Well Treated

Paris.—As an answer and comment on a report that French prisoners, officers and men, worked together in a sort of pen and were poorly fed, the press here publishes a letter, signed by the Germans and Austrians who left Paris at the outbreak of the war and were sent to their homes, thanking the municipality for its kindness to them and their children. Among the signers of this letter is von Leoprechting, the son of a Bavarian colonel.

"My Story"

The book entitled "My Story," by Tom L. Johnson, edited by Elizabeth J. Hauser, should be read by every person interested in civic betterment and the uplift of humanity. Mr. Johnson was a picturesque character of his day, and possessed a big, brave, dauntless and resourceful soul. Tom Johnson was a practical man, and demonstrated the futility of all legislation which does not strike Privilege at its root, which is land monopoly. The Terminal acknowledges receipt of this valuable book, "My Story," from the Joseph Fels Fund of America, Cincinnati, Ohio.

SUES TRACTION CO.

The damage suit of Jennie L. Haines against the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railway company for $50,000 which she claims is due her as a result of the killing of her husband, Charles W. Haines, who was run over and killed by a street car of the company in Richmond on October 30, 1911, came to trial in Judge Barber's department of the superior court Tuesday. Mrs. Haines is suing on behalf of her son, Warner S. Haines.

LACK OF NURSES CAUSES SUFFERING TO WOUNDED

Paris.—The pitiable state of most of the German wounded is explained by some of the prisoners as due to a lack of nursing. They say the Germans were so convinced that they would cross France and take Paris at the double-quick that they did not provide for wounded. When the famous "75" gun of the French began to make ravages, the German commanders took from the ranks men best qualified for the work of caring for the wounded, but their services were quite insufficient.

A trainload of wounded, comprising a large number of men in the Imperial Guard, arrived in Bordeaux. Nearly all are in a grave state. They were accompanied by a German army surgeon and one nurse of the Imperial Guard. All of these wounded recognize the good care they have had since falling into the hands of the French.

CITY BRIEFS

The Yeomen rendered a fine musical program last evening. Dancing followed.

Richmond Moose won in the drill contest last Sunday from the Knights of Pythias.

The board of supervisors fixed the county tax rate at $1.00 this year. The rate last year was $1.66%.

Superintendent Helms reports the daily average attendance for the graded schools in August at 1824.

The application of J. H. Gibb to remodel the Royal theater was denied by the city council Monday night.

County Superintendent of Schools Hanlon is arranging for the teachers' institute, the date and program to be announced later.

The volunteer firemen's association of Richmond has appropriated $360 for making the Standard avenue school house suitable for a rendezvous.

Wm. Burr, the colored man who was accidentally killed by the explosion of a shotgun, will be buried tomorrow. Undertaker Smallwood having charge.

The men injured by the collision of a street car and cement wagon at Thirteenth and Macdonald, are recovering at Craven hospital. None were seriously injured.

A. J. Stanley had a diamond pin snatched from his necktie by one of three men who jostled him Sunday night while riding in a crowded street car between Richmond and Oakland.

The county tax rate has been divided into the following funds: General fund $50, hospital $11, salary $22, school $46, road $40, interest and sinking $0.15, county library $0.13, Panama exposition $0.3, state $0.39.

The sad news reached G. L. Messerle of Richmond that Mrs. Nettie Anderson and her daughter Helen, aged 12, were lost on the steamer Leggett.

Mrs. Anderson was the youngest daughter of Mr. Messerle. The city council Monday night confirmed the appointment of Police Chief Walker. V. A. Phillips was appointed inspector No. 1 and George Betts inspector No. 2. E. Jennings and Frank Standiford were appointed patrolmen.

The potters of Richmond employ a large force of men and are adding to their force as fast as men can be procured. Several potters have arrived from the east the past week and have been employed by the Pacific Porcelain Ware Company.

The well known citizen, Angelo Corgetti, former proprietor of the S. P. hotel, on Macdonald avenue near Fifteenth street, passed away last Sunday. He was a native of Italy, and had resided in California many years.

The Builders' Exchange entertained a Dutch supper Monday night. An enjoyable evening was spent by those present. F. A. Finger, J. O. Black, T. J. Burton and John Gerlach comprised the committee who made the affair a success.

"It is not a question of what the water commission is going to do next," said a citizen next morning after Tuesday's election. "It is a question as to what the people are going to do with the water commission."

It seems that what they (the people) did to the water bonds Tuesday should be sufficient hint to the commission, and especially the "engineering corps," that Richmond taxpayers know just about what they want, and the good drubbing the water bonds got should be a plenty for the most conceited politician.

GERMAN EMPRESS VISITS WOUNDED IN HOSPITALS

Berlin (via Amsterdam).—Empress Augusta Victoria visited the hospital named for her and conversed with the wounded officers and men.

Prince Joachim, the youngest son of the Emperor, who is at Bellevue Castle, is recovering from his wounds, but it will be several weeks before he will be well.

The University of Koenigsberg has conferred honorary degrees on General Hindenberg in recognition of his services in repulsing the Russian invaders of East Prussia.

BREASTWORKS MADE OF COMRADES' DEAD BODIES

"Terrible stories are reaching Paris of piles of dead and wounded which encumber the battlefield of the Marne and the Red Cross is working night and day. At one place, it is said, the Germans erected a barrier six feet high of corpses with which to resist the French. This barrier was carried after a terrific struggle by the French Turoes, leaving 7500 dead on the battlefield."

WOMEN FIGHT FOR LIFE IN SEA'S GRIP

Survivor Paints Vivid Picture of Struggling Humanity When Steamer Leggett Sinks

Astoria, Ore.—Out of the seventy-four persons reported on board the steamship Francis H. Leggett, sunk off the Oregon coast in a sixty-five-mile-an-hour gale, only two were saved. Of those on board, fifty-one were passengers, including six women, and twenty-three were members of the crew.

The two survivors were Alexander Farrell, brought to Astoria by the steamship Beaver, and George Pullman, who is on board the Associated Oil tank steamer Frank H. Buck. The Buck was delayed at the mouth of the Columbia river on account of the heavy weather.

According to Farrell, who is in a state of collapse as a result of his experience, the Leggett became water-logged and turned turtle after fighting for more than twenty-four hours in a storm, during which the seas rolled mountain high and the wind blew a hurricane.

Farrell painted a vivid word picture of the struggle the Leggett made to weather the storm, only to sink when its hold filled with water from the mountainous seas that swept over it.

"In the first boat launched there were thirty persons, two of them women. Only six women were on board and the other four were at the other end of the ship."

"As soon as the lifeboat struck the water it capsize and all the occupants were thrown into the water, and I think they were drowned immediately. It was an awful sight. I could see the men and women clinging frantically to any piece of lumber within reach."

"A few minutes later at attempt was made to launch the second lifeboat. It was almost certain death and only a few boarded it. It contained four women and their husbands."

The first boat met the same fate as the first one and capsize immediately. No boat could have lived in that sea, the Leggett went down. I went down with her. My feet became tangled in a piece of rope and I was unable to free myself. The boat capsize as she sank. I don't know how long I was under the water, but when I came to the top I was half drowned. I grabbed a railroad tie that was floating nearby and hung on for dear life. I looked around and saw that the wireless operator also was hanging on to the tie. I saw men and women sinking all around me, but could not hear their cries owing to the terrific gale which was raging. I saw three women clinging to a log nearby for some time, but they soon disappeared from view. The suction of the vessel when she went down was terrible, and we came nearly being drawn under the second time."

"It was about 1 o'clock in the morning, I guess, that the Beaver picked me up. The wireless operator clung to the tie with me for several hours and then, numbed with cold, he dropped off, and I was left alone. I probably did not drift over a quarter of a mile from the place where the Leggett went down."

Fisherman Shot and Robbed
San Francisco.—Highwaymen shot Louis Schimming, fisherman, in the head for resisting a waterfront holdup and then threw him into the bay, whence he was taken so badly hurt that he probably will die.

Santa Rosa.—Rather than pay his wife alimony, Ira McLain, a well-to-do farmer, murdered his wife Monday in the corridor of the Superior Court and committed suicide with the same revolver. The court had just granted the wife alimony in divorce proceedings. As soon as the award was announced, McLain sought his wife, just outside the door, and shot her dead. He then put the pistol to his temple and completed the tragedy.

Divorce Proceedings End in Murder and Suicide
Washington.—The probable outcome of the deliberations of the national convention of military and political leaders in Mexico City, October 1, when a provisional president will be chosen, was a topic of discussion among administration officials here. The understanding here is that General Carranza will resign as first chief and that Fernando Iglesias Calderon, leader of the Liberal party in Mexico, will be named provisional president. Calderon will conduct a general election, in which Carranza expects to be a candidate.

TRAIN ROBBERS HOLD UP LARK

Two Armed and Masked Bandits Secure About $1000 From S. P. Passengers

Los Angeles.—Two masked men, one armed with a shotgun and the other with a revolver, held up and robbed the observation car of the Southern Pacific "Lark," at Burbank, eleven miles north of this city, at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

The bandits boarded the train at Burbank by the rear door of the last car on the train. While one stood guard over the terrified passengers, the other systematically went through the passengers, securing over $1000 in cash and jewels.

Unlike the Chatsworth affair, men and women alike were robbed. The pair were at work a scant fifteen minutes. At Zetah, four miles north of Burbank, the man on guard jerked the emergency cord and as the train slowed up both leaped from the car into the darkness. Conductor Bayles flashed the news to the Sheriff's office in Los Angeles and the train proceeded with no loss of running time.

Displaying an intimate knowledge of the geography of the territory through which the train passed, they swung off the train at a crossing near Los Angeles and escaped. They are believed to have changed their clothes in a waiting automobile and to have made their way into the city unseen.

GERMAN ARMIES FACE ALLIES IN STRONGLY ENTRENCHED POSITIONS

Reports differ as to the progress of the great battle in Northern France between the allied British and French armies and the Germans. Some indicate that there is extremely heavy fighting, while others tell of the great masses of troops lying in flooded trenches, many of them at the stage of exhaustion.

At some points, at least, fierce engagements have been fought, with the tide flowing first in one direction and then in the other. The allies have won a position here, and the Germans have gained one there. But all reports, official and otherwise, agree that there is much fighting yet to be done before material advantage can be claimed by either side.

The British in the trenches say: "We are slowly beating them back." The French official statement declares that they were furiously counter attacked by superior forces and obliged to yield some ground. This was regained almost immediately.

Berlin officially announces that the France-British forces have been obliged to take the defense in entrenched positions, and that, therefore, the German attacks are slow.

Interesting information has been given out by the British Admiralty regarding British successes and misfortunes in various waters. The British merchant cruiser Carmania has sunk a German merchant cruiser, supposed to be either the Cape Trafalgar or the Berlin, off the coast of South America, but the German cruiser Koenigsberg has completely disabled the British cruiser Pegasus, while the latter was overhauling her machinery in Zanzibar harbor, killing twenty-five men and wounding more than three times that number, and the German cruiser Emden has sunk six British merchant steamers in the Bay of Bengal.

In the fighting around Rheims, the matter of greatest general interest has been the destruction of the famous cathedral, one of the most noted structures in the world, dating back to the thirteenth century, which is reported to have first been pierced by many German shells and then to have burst into flames.

London.—Another great battle, even more vital for the countries concerned than those which have preceded it, is now in progress on a line extending from the region of Noyon, on the River Oise, northwest of Paris, to the River Meuse, north of Verdun.

The front is somewhat shorter than was the case in the battle of the Marne, but this will result in a more fiercely contested battle, with masses of troops throwing themselves at each other, and every available piece of artillery concentrated in the determined effort of the armies to break through the lines.

The Germans, who a fortnight ago had to abandon their first swift endeavor to destroy the armies of France and Great Britain and capture Paris, have now fortified themselves on the mountains north of the River Aisne, through the plains of Champagne, and in the Argonne mountains, through which the Meuse flows. They are in stronger positions than they were for the battle of the Marne and have been strongly reinforced with fresh troops from the north and east. They have attempted some counter-attacks against the allied troops, which, flushed with victory, have been trying to prevent them from entrenching themselves.

According to English and French official reports, these attacks have been repulsed and the Germans compelled to give way at certain points, but the German general staff claims just the opposite result.

It is certain, however, that the hilly country north of the Aisne offers good ground for such tactics. It would appear that these western wings of the two armies, the German right and the allies' left, are again to bear a heavy part in the fighting. Upon the armies of General von Kluck and General von Buelow depend the safety of the rest of the German army, should retreat be decided upon or forced upon them. Besides holding

ASSERT AUSTRIANS ARE THOROUGHLY DEFEATED

Franz Josef's Armies in Galicia Reported in Critical Condition

London.—All reports both from Petrograd and such independent sources as Rome and Bucharest, tend to confirm, or paint in gloomier colors, the critical position of the Austrian armies in Galicia. These armies, which set out to arrest the advance of the main Russian Army in Germany, have had the tables turned on them by the Russian generals, Ruzsky and Brusiloff, and are threatened with envelopment.

Having abandoned Lemberg, they are now leaving Przmyśl behind them and retreating to Cracow. It is said by Russian correspondents that the Austrians have lost all discipline, the aim of the men being to get across the Carpathians. If this is true their commanders are likely to have difficulty in leading them over 200 miles to Cracow, where they might find support from a newly formed German corps, which has assembled there. Besides, they are in danger from the Russian army coming from the north.

Austria is calling to the colors all men available for military service, including those previously rejected as unfit. But this can hardly help the army in Galicia, which has, according to Russian reports, suffered terrible losses.

SAY GERMANS ANNIHILATED OWN REGIMENT BY MISTAKE

London.—In a dispatch from Paris the correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Company says a Saxon officer, now a prisoner at Troyes, France, admits that the Germans made serious mistakes in night fighting, which they indulged in since the beginning of the war.

Near Malines, this officer says, a detachment of German artillery annihilated a Prussian regiment under the impression that it was French infantry. Near a frontier village two battalions of the Twenty-eighth German Infantry, mistaking one another for French troops, shot each other to the last man.

The correspondent says that Gaston Doumergue, the French Minister of the Colonies, is going to the Department of the Marne to organize relief for local populations.

GERMAN SEIGE GUNS ARE LIMITED TO TWO POINTS

London.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the value of the German siege guns is limited to two points.

They can be dragged anywhere, even over the muddy roads, a novelty for 11-inch howitzers, and they have wonderful armor piercing qualities when used against forts. In permanent fortified positions their effect on the soldiers is terrible; some of the Belgians in the Liege forts were driven crazy.

But the French laugh at their effect in the open, saying that they can do more damage with their field guns.

TURN GERMAN RIGHT FLANK GENERAL JOFFRE REPORTS

Paris.—General Joffre in his report Wenesay morning to the War Office says: "The turning movement of the allies' left continues; General Von Kluck's army is retiring and the indications are that the German center has reached the high tide of its resistance and also will soon be forced to retire to a new position."

NINE-MILE TRENCH OF DEAD—WOUNDED ARRIVE ALL NIGHT

London.—The Daily Mail's correspondent reports that the German right has been turned between Peronne and St. Quentin. He says that during all Tuesday night wounded had been arriving at an unnamed place. They report there are nine miles of dead in trenches between those two towns.

Serbs Capture Serajevo
London.—The capture by a combined Serbian and Montenegrin force of Serajevo, capital of the Austrian province of Bosnia, was announced in a dispatch received here from Rome on Tuesday.

OLIVE TREE AN INSTITUTION

An Important in Syria as Is the Cow to People of the Countries of the West.

The trees in a Syrian garden are an important and practically necessary part of the nutrition of the people. Combined with grain in the form of coarse bread, the tree-products make a balanced and wholesome ration. For large elements of the population, at least one meal a day is commonly composed of bread and walnuts. The walnut is rich in both protein and fat, so that this combination virtually duplicates in nutrition our occidental sandwich of bread, butter and meat. The oil to which the scriptural writers so lovingly referred is still important in that land, and the olive tree that produces it is almost as useful to the Syrian as the cow is to the American. The cow gives butter and milk, and the olive tree gives butter and food. When the workman on the Mediterranean goes home for a day's labor, he often takes a pocketful of olives and a piece of bread for his lunch. Remove butter, breakfast bacon, and fat meat from our vocabulary, put olives in their place, and we shall begin to think the thoughts of Mediterranean cooks. Once cooked and palates are educated, the blood does not know the difference between the rich globules of fat that come to it. It is fat that the human system wants, and it makes no final difference whether it comes from butter, bacon, fat, olive, coconut, goose, or bear. Fat is fat, once it is in our blood. The source from which we shall get this fundamental nutrition depends in part upon our bringing up, but eventually our getting it depends upon the ease of winning it from our environment.—J. Russell Smith, in the Atlantic.

Services on the Roof.
Efforts to maintain religious worship through the summer months on the plane of comfort and freedom from oppressive heat have resulted in two churches here holding Sunday evening services on the roof gardens of their parish houses. In both cases the experiment was a success, and it was determined to continue the innovation during the hot weather. We hear other towns complaining that they have no church roof gardens, but services in some places have been held with success and in comfort on church lawns, and very impressive and beautiful many of them must have been. Whether the roof or the lawn is the place, the plan to surround worshippers with more comfort than the church itself affords is an excellent one, and serving of emulation.—New York Press.

How to Keep Olives.
When a large bottle of olives is opened and only a part of them used, the remainder, though left in the bottle, become comparatively tasteless. To avoid this pour half an inch of olive oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar on the top and cork well. The olives will then retain their natural flavor indefinitely.

"For the cause that lacks assistance,
Against the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do."

Sacramento river water is excellent for "boating purposes."

The war spirit has not subsided, not so you can notice it—in Europe.

Huerta seems to have lost out. His corner on the spotlight has faded.

About every turn one makes nowadays he bumps into a new kind of war tax.

It isn't right to tantalize a fellow because he lost his money betting that Sacramento river water would win.

The "County of Richmond" sounds good, but Richmond has a sufficient number of "things in the air" at present.

Abe Martin says: "A feller don't only come back from a vacation tired, but he proceeds to make everybody else tired."

Old Abe said—after the water bond election: "You kin lead a mule up ter 'er trough, but durn if ye kin make him drink."

A resident of Winehaven says that "seaport" voted for Sacramento river water, indicating that Winehaven will vote "dry" November 3.

It was thought that from the number of fire alarms turned in on election day, the people would have a heart and vote for the bonds. They did—not.

The Terminal newspaper was the only one in Richmond that opposed the Sacramento river water bonds. The Terminal voices the opinion of the people.

The war news from Europe reads like a "commencement essay," and is about as near a "guess" as to what is actually transpiring on European battlefields as the Peace doves are only popular on this side of the Atlantic. The Kaiser doesn't pay much attention to them. Ten-inch siege guns are of vast more importance.

No. 10 on the ballot will be the poll tax amendment. Don't overlook this old worn out and antediluvian tax, which nearly all the states have now relegated to the ash can. Give it a good poke in the solar plexus.

He may have been throwing us a little "dust," but this is what he said: "The Terminal newspaper is the only one I can depend upon to tell the truth. I use the others for kindling." Our chest measurement is now 42 and going up.

Watch amendment No. 13 on the ballot. It is a proposal to impose a property qualification on bonding elections. It is a proposal to eliminate manhood and womanhood as a basis of suffrage, to abrogate to money powers incompatible with popular government.

Grape growers of California are loyal and willing to bear a reasonable burden that may be assessed upon them to meet emergency financial conditions of our government, but a tax on our light dry wines of 20 cents per gallon by ways and means committee is confiscatory.

Great Britain is under martial law, and two million men are under arms, besides the navy. The government has taken over all railway lines. Strict censorship prevails, the strictest ever known. The actual places and locations of soldiers are kept secret. The men in the army and navy are not allowed to state in their letters to their loved ones just where they are, nor to make any statements what they are doing.

Amendment No. 7

Some of the opponents of Amendment No. 7, providing for Home Rule in Taxation, are saying that the amendment was placed on the ballot by initiative petition. That is not true. The amendment was submitted by the legislature of 1913, after a thorough discussion in the house and senate, and it received the votes of two-thirds of the members of each body. The vote in the house was 54 for the amendment and 17 against, while in the senate, after a debate in which both the administration leader, Senator Boynton, and the minority leader, Senator Caminetti, spoke in favor of the bill, it was carried by a vote of 27 to 6. Two-thirds of the members of the legislature voted for the amendment for home rule in taxation, because they knew that California's tax laws are bad, and believed that if counties, cities and towns have more power in tax matters, the state will gradually work into a satisfactory tax system.

New War Tax is Arranged by Democrats in Caucus to Overcome Objections

Washington.—As agreed on by the Democratic caucus and administration leaders, the war revenue bill was re-framed to eliminate the freight tax and provide special levies.

In addition to wine, beer and gasoline, taxes previously agreed upon, it will tax banks with capital and surplus not exceeding $25,000, $50 a year, and $2 for each additional $1000; stockbrokers, $50; pawnbrokers, $20; commercial brokers, $20; custom house brokers, $10; proprietors of theaters, museums and concert halls, $100; circuses, $100; public exhibitions, $10; bowling alleys and billiard halls, $5 per alley or table; dealers in leaf tobacco, $2 to $24, according to volume of business; dealers in tobacco, $12; manufacturers of tobacco and cigars, $6 to $24.

The stamp taxes proposed, subject to probable revision by the committee, are in detail as follows:

Bank checks, 2 cents; drafts or bills of exchange, inland, 2 cents for each $100; certificates of deposit, 2 cents; promissory notes, 2 cents for each $100; money orders, 1 cent per $100; express receipts, 1 cent; freight receipts or domestic bills of lading, 1 cent; telephone messages costing 15 cents or more, 1 cent; bonds, 50 cents; certificates of deposit, 2 cents per $100; certificates of damage, 25 cents; certificates not otherwise specified, 10 cents; charters, $3 to $10; broker's contract, 10 cents; conveyances, 50 cents for each $500; telegraph messages, 1 cent; life insurance policies, 8 cents on each $100; marine, inland, fire, casualty, fidelity and guaranty, one-half of 1 per cent; mortgage or conveyance in trust, 25 cents for each $1500; power of attorney to vote, 10 cents; power of attorney to sell, 25 cents; protests, 25 cents; warehouse receipts, 25 cents.
